Section A: Reading Comprehension

Nonfiction Reading Test

Hyperinflation

Directions: Read the following passage and answer the questions that follow. Refer to the text to check your answers when appropriate.

You like money, right? Most people do. But what is it really worth? Usually, it will buy the goods and services that you expect. But sometimes it's worth less than the paper that it's printed on. I know that sounds hard to believe, but it's happened before.

During World War I, the French and the Germans fought one another fiercely. The war exacted a tremendous cost on both sides. Millions died. Billions of dollars were spent. The French paid for their efforts by taxing their citizens. But the Germans borrowed money to pay for the war. As the war raged on and the Germans borrowed more and more money, the value of their currency dropped.

In those days, the Germans called their money Marks. When World War I started in 1914, a US Dollar was worth around four German Marks. In 1919, after the war ended, a US Dollar was worth about nine German Marks. That means that Germans needed to spend twice as much money to buy the same items after the war. This is called inflation. Since people usually don't start earning twice as much money out of nowhere, it can be a real problem.

While 100% inflation over five years sounds pretty bad, things got much worse after the war. The countries that fought against Germany were upset with them. The French were perhaps most upset. Much of the fighting took place in France, and the country was ravaged. Since France and her allies won the war, they got to set the terms of surrender. France wanted billions of dollars each year. They demanded payments in foreign money, like the US Dollar, not in German Marks.

It was early 1921 by the time these agreements were made. One US Dollar could buy 60 German Marks. Then the Germans started making payments. Things soon spiraled out of control.

The Germans made these payments by printing money. They would trade the money that they printed for foreign currency. But as they printed more and more, the money was worth less and less. In November of 1921, one US Dollar was worth 330 Marks. A year later, one US Dollar was worth 800 German Marks.

The German government grew desperate. They began to trade Marks for foreign money at any rate. This only made things worse. By November of 1923, one US Dollar could buy 4,210,500,000,000 Marks. That is not a typo. The number is 4 trillion. Their money was devalued so fast that German workers had to go to the store right after getting paid. If they waited until the day's end, their money would be worthless. Basic items like stamps and loaves of bread cost billions of Marks. Germans had to figure their expenses in thousands of billions. That made it tough to get through the day if you lacked strong math skills. Some burned the old bills to provide heat. The Marks' value as a fuel had increased beyond its value as a currency.

That the German economy ever recovered is something of a miracle, but it did recover. They created a new currency called the Reitenmark. Unlike the old Marks, the new Reitenmark was backed by land and gold. This means the currency could be traded for gold or land at a fixed rate. This also meant that the government could only print as much money as they had land and gold to back it. That turned out to be a good thing. By December of 1923, the Reitenmark was the official currency. The Germans cut 12 zeros from the prices of their products and it was business as usual. Though they still had a lot of issues to work out, the money was stable. That made life a lot more livable. So while you are out chasing after money, remember that money is little more than a promise, and that promises can be broken.

1. Which is not a reason why the German Mark lost value?
    - a. The Germans borrowed money to pay for World War I.
    - b. The Germans had to make payments with foreign money.
    - c. The French demanded large payments.
    - d. The French lost the war.

  2. Which best defines the word inflation as it is used in the third paragraph?
    - a. When the value of a currency drops
    - b. To increase the size of a balloon by blowing air into it
    - c. When the same amount of money purchases more than in the past
    - d. When the pictures on the money change

  3. Which best expresses the main idea of the second paragraph?
    - a. Germany and France fought against one another in World War I.
    - b. Many people died in World War I on all sides.
    - c. The German Mark lost value because of borrowing.
    - d. The French were wrong to increase taxes during war time.

  4. Which happened first?
    - a. The German Mark was replaced with the Retenmark.
    - b. The US Dollar was worth nine German Marks.
    - c. The Germans began making war payments to France.
    - d. German Marks were burned to provide heat.

  5. Which statement would the author most likely agree with?
    - a. Inflation affects governments, not people.
    - b. The best way to pay for a long war is to borrow money.
    - c. Living in Germany during 1923 would be fun and exciting.
    - d. It is important for a nation to have a stable currency.

  6. According to the text, how did the German government respond to France's demands for war payments?
    - a. The Germans made cuts and managed their resources wisely to meet payments.
    - b. The Germans printed a bunch of money and traded it for foreign currency.
    - c. The Germans raised taxes on their citizens and used the tax money to make payments.
    - d. The Germans began selling luxury cars to foreign nations to raise the money.

  7. How was the Retenmark different from the paper Mark?
    - a. It was printed under the close supervision of the US Government.
    - b. It came before the paper Mark and was printed on silver plates.
    - c. It was backed by land and gold and could not be endlessly printed.
    - d. It was used to purchase land and gold and could not buy consumer goods.

SECTION B: WRITING - THE RESEARCH ESSAY

What is a Research Essay?

A research paper is a formal, written presentation of your findings on a topic based on information you have gathered from several sources. Effective research writing must have:

- A clearly stated thesis statement
- Factual support from a variety of outside sources, including direct quotations whose sources are credited
- A clear organizational strategy
- A bibliography or a works cited list that provides a complete listing of research sources

Types of Research Papers:

Research writing comes in a variety of forms. Below are some of the types of research writing you will encounter:

- Lab reports record the purposes, processes, and results of an experiment
- Annotated bibliographies help researchers by providing a list of sources related to a topic. In addition to source information such as title, author, and publication date, the researcher provides evaluations of the material.
- Documented essays are short versions of research papers. Because they include only a limited number of research sources, these essays provide full documentation parenthetically within the text.
- Documentaries use video, photograph, personal interviews, and narration to present the results of research.

The Big6™ Skills

The Big6 is a process model of how people of all ages solve an information problem.

1. Task Definition

- 1.1 Define the information problem
- 1.2 Identify information needed (to solve the information problem)
  - What is my current task?
  - What are some topics or questions I need to answer?
  - What information will I need?

2. Information Seeking Strategies

- 2.1 Determine all possible sources (brainstorm)
- 2.2 Select the best sources
  - What are all the possible sources to check?
  - What are the best sources of information for this task?

3. Location and Access

- 3.1 Locate sources (intellectually and physically)
- 3.2 Find information within sources
  - Where can I find these sources?
  - Where can I find the information in the source?

4. Use of Information

- 4.1 Engage (e.g., read, hear, view, touch)
- 4.2 Extract relevant information
  - What information do I expect to find in this source?
  - What information from the source is useful?

5. Synthesis

- 5.1 Organize from multiple sources
- 5.2 Present the information
  - How will I organize my information?
  - How should I present my information?

6. Evaluation

- 6.1 Judge the product (effectiveness)
- 6.2 Judge the process (efficiency)
  - Did I do what was required?
  - Did I complete each of the Big6 Stages efficiently?

General Guidelines

- Your list of references should begin on a separate page, with the title "Works Cited".
- Arrange entries alphabetically, using the last name of the author. If no author is given, alphabetize by the title, eliminating any initial A, An, or The.
- Begin each entry at the left margin. Indent the following lines one-half inch from the left margin.
- Double-space within each entry, and between each entry.
- Follow carefully the punctuation, underlining, and capitalization in the examples.
- Shorten the name of the publishing company by eliminating articles (A, An, or The), business abbreviations (Co., Inc., Ltd.), and descriptive words (Books, House, Press). However, when citing a University Press, add the abbreviation "UP" (Ohio State UP). If the publisher's name is the name of one or more persons, cite the first surname only (Abrams).

In-Text Citation

Parenthetical references

- The list of Works Cited at the end of your paper tells your reader what resources you used to write your paper. To avoid plagiarism or taking credit for ideas that are not your own, you must also indicate in the text of your paper precisely what is borrowed from a source and where to locate that information in the source.
- The in-text citation usually appears in parentheses and corresponds directly to an entry in your list of Works Cited.
- The author's last name and the page number are usually enough to indicate the location in the source.
- If the author's name is used in the sentence, do not repeat it in the citation.

RESEARCH QUESTION:

In Term 1, you will study the novel, Refugee Boy, by Benjamin Zephaniah.

This is the story of Alem Kelo, a young boy caught up in the Ethiopian – Eritrean war. Alem’s father takes him to Britain, in the hopes of keeping him safe. Left alone in a strange country, Alem learns what it is like to live as a refugee.

Prior Knowledge: Investigate why people become refugees. The internet has many resources available on this topic. Do research and write a research report of between 450 and 550 words detailing your findings. Your report must include information on the following:

1. What is a refugee?
2. Why do people become refugees?
3. A current refugee crisis, causes and effects of this crisis.
4. Current statistics on the number of refugees in the world.
5. How can we help refugees?

Research Paper Rubric

The following rubric and point values will be used to evaluate your final research paper. Use this rubric to guide you through the drafting and editing process and to ensure you are meeting all requirements for this assignment.

	5	3	1
Organization	Information is very organized with well-constructed paragraphs and transitions.	Information is organized, but paragraphs are not well constructed.	The information appears to be disorganized and lacks focus and cohesiveness.
Mechanics	No grammatical, spelling or punctuation errors.	A few grammatical spelling or punctuation errors.	Many grammatical, spelling, or punctuation errors.
Voice	Paper has an interesting introduction and conclusion; student has made paper “their own.”	Paper is straightforward and informative, but lacks creativity and voice.	Paper is difficult to read, has no personality or originality.
Research (Quality of Information and Content)	Information clearly relates to the main topic. It includes several supporting details and/or examples.	Information clearly relates to the main topic. No (or too few) details and/or examples are given.	Information has little or nothing to do with the main topic.
Citation (Acknowledgement of sources in paper)	Paper is original (no plagiarism), and quotes and paraphrasing exists for information that is not original.	Paper is original but lacks the insertion and documentation of new information.	Paper is unoriginal (plagiarized) or appropriate acknowledgement is not given for information.
Notes/Outline	Note cards and outline are organized in an extremely neat and orderly fashion and meet all guidelines.	Note cards and outline are included. However amount or quality of notes lacks effort.	No note cards or outline available for evaluation.
Sources and Bibliography	All sources are accurately documented in the desired format.	All sources are documented, but many are not in the desired format.	Not enough sources, or sources are not accurately documented.

SECTION C: LITERATURE – Refugee Boy, by Benjamin Zephania

1) MATCHING:

Match the literary term in column A with the explanation in column B. Write down the Alphabet only in the answer column.

A	ANSWER	B
1. Allusion		A) A rival / opponent/enemy of the main character.
2. Antagonist		B) A conventional character or plot with little or no individuality.
3. Anti-hero		C) Maybe an object, person or place which represents something beyond itself. (e.g. a dove is a bird but may also represent peace.)
4. Climax		D) Figurative use of words in a way that has meaning which should not be taken literally.
5. Denouement		E) A logical conclusion or assumption about a character or event in the story.
6. Flat Character		F) Term used for a recurring theme or idea in a literary work.
7. Foreshadowing		G) Technique used to give the reader hints of what is to come later in the work.
8. Inference		H) Any device used at the start of a work to grab the reader's attention.
9. Idiom		I) A character constructed around a single idea.
10. Motif		J) Chief or main character of a short story, play or novel.
11. Narrative hook		K) The point of highest interest or the turning point in the action.
12. Paraphrase		L) Solution to the struggle created between the main characters.
13. Protagonist		M) Reference to a historical/literary figure or event.
14. Stereotype		N) Main character who is the opposite of what we would expect the hero to be.
15. Symbol		O) Restatement of an idea that keeps the meaning but uses different words.

- 2) Read through the prologue, from the novel Refugee Boy, given below. As you read through “Ethiopia” and “Eritrea” use the space provided to make a note of the possible emotions each character might be experiencing. (e.g. Alem might be ____, his father might be ____. Etc.)

~ Ethiopia ~

As the family lay sleeping, soldiers kicked down the door of the house and entered, waving their rifles around erratically and shouting at the top of their voices. Alem ran into the room where his parents were, to find that they had been dragged out of bed dressed only in their nightclothes, and forced to stand facing the wall.

The soldier who was in command went and stood so that his mouth was six inches away from Alem's father's ear and shouted, 'What kind of man are you?'

Alem's father shuddered with fear; his voice trembled as he replied, 'I am an African.'

Alem looked on terrified as the soldier shot a number of bullets into the floor around the feet of his father and mother.

His mother screamed with fear. 'Please leave us! We only want peace.'

The soldier continued shouting. 'Are you Ethiopian or Eritrean? Tell us, we want to know.'

'I am an African,' Alem's father replied.

The soldier raised his rifle and pointed it at Alem's father. 'You are a traitor.' He turned and pointed the rifle at Alem's mother. 'And she is the enemy.' Then he turned and pointed the rifle at Alem's forehead. 'And he is a mongrel.'

Turning back to Alem's father, he dropped his voice and said, 'Leave Ethiopia or die.'

~ Eritrea ~
