Name	Date
I WALLIE

Lesson 17 PRACTICE BOOK

Adverbs That Tell How, When, and Where

The Right Dog for the Job

Grammar: Adverbs

An adverb is a word that tells something about a verb. Some adverbs tell how, when, or where. An adverb can come before or after the verb. Most adverbs that tell how end in -ly.

Thinking Question What is the verb? What word tells how about the verb?

The adverbs in this sentence tell about the verb played:

when

where how

Yesterday, our puppy played happily outside.

- 1-5. The verb in each sentence is underlined. Write the adverb. Then write whether it tells when, how, or where.
 - 1. Leon talked softly to the new puppy. ____
 - 2. Robo licked Leon's face excitedly.
 - 3. Suddenly, Leon hugged Robo.
 - 4. Now the family plays with Robo.
 - 5. Leon taught Robo to sit there. ___
- Underline each adverb. Write the verb it describes. 6-10.
 - 6. Someday Robo will learn how to behave. _
 - 7. He secretly chewed Dad's new slippers. _
 - 8. Mom put the puppy outside. _____
 - 9. Robo wagged his tail innocently. _
- 10. Everyone immediately laughed at the dog's expression.

S. My good dog, Pal, nearly lost that ratel